

WE NOMINATE

John Angus McPhee, one of the gifted chroniclers of his generation and a lifelong Princetonian, whose recently concluded two-part series in "The New Yorker" has given thousands of New Jerseyans a new understanding of "The Pine Barrens," the lightly populated 650,000-acre wilderness in close-by Burlington and Ocean Counties. Not until the 36-year old McPhee, the biographer of basketball star Bill Bradley, became intrigued — at his wife's urgings — with the central Barrens did many in Princeton and elsewhere, learn that in the nation's most densely populated state, averaging 1,000 persons per square mile, one area "all but returned to pre-Colonial desolation and remained a distinct and separate world."

To his complex subject McPhee, younger son of Dr. Harry R. McPhee, Princeton University's celebrated team and Olympic physician for three decades, brought the rare skills which have established him among the topnotch reporter-authors of the 1960's. "Over the weeks," one veteran observer pointed out, "McPhee built his story like an old craftsman, laying down layer upon layer of detailed research. He talked to conservationists, planners, government officials, historians, naturalists and, above all, the people of the Pines." The result is a meticulously documented and at times exhausting profile of a unique area along the Atlantic Seaboard, including its history, ecology, folklore and topology.

Those who have known McPhee since he was the 8-year old batboy for the University's varsity baseball team are hardly surprised by his success as a "staffer" for "The New Yorker." He compiled an outstanding record at Princeton High School and Deerfield Academy and, as a member of the Princeton Class of 1953, gained honors in English while writing a novel as his senior thesis, the first ever accepted by the Department of English. At Princeton, "until he became the world's oldest living teen-ager at 22," he earned his way through as the "teen-age member" of the celebrated radio and television quiz program, "Twenty Questions," that "for profit divided the entire world into animal, vegetable and mineral."

Following a postgraduate year at Magdalene College, Cambridge University, where at 57 he continued to play basketball and captained the university basketball team, he went to work for W. R. Grace and Co. as a speech-writer for corporation executives, wrote for television and subsequently moved on to "Time" — writing initially for "the back of the book" and rising to the rank of Associate Editor. A major factor in his ascent in the "writing world" was a series of thoughtfully researched and brilliantly written "Time" cover stories treating such diverse show-business personalities as Lerner and Lowe, Richard Burton, Mort Sahl, Sophia Loren, Joan Baez and Jackie Gleason.

McPhee, now doing most of his writing in a converted shack on his Drake's Corner Road property and this month for the first time installing a telephone in his retreat, has produced three noteworthy books in the past two years, all rooted in his magazine writing. "A Sense of Where You Are" is the highly regarded story of William Warren Bradley, now struggling with the challenges of professional basketball, while "The Headmaster" is the moving portrait of Frank L. Boyden, retiring this year after some 66 years of service at Deerfield Academy. The third title, "Oranges," is enjoying a flurry of attention in Christmas bookmarts.

For feeling "I have enough work here to keep me busy for a thousand years"; for insisting, whenever he discusses his career, "I have so much fun I sometimes feel guilty"; for strengthening this community's cherished literary tradition; he is our nominee as

MAIL MEANS MORALE

At Christmas Overseas. At almost eight million pieces of mail went through the Princeton Post Office this month. Uncounted in the tally (but an awful lot of it), according to Postmaster Darryl E. (Bud) Sparring of Princeton Junction recalls his Christmas last year. "The troops would come in when they had leave and read all the mail they wanted to."

"A lot of the letters were just addressed, 'Dear Soldier.' They were very warm, very personal. It raised the spirits of those who read them."

For six weeks ending December 4, men and women from Princeton and the surrounding communities wrapped gifts on Monday afternoons at Trinity Church for marines of 1 Corps, near the DMZ in Vietnam. Over 7,000 small items were wrapped and mailed.

Tenagers of the three Presbyterian churches in Princeton spent last Sunday afternoon in "The Next Door" at First Church, wrapping gifts and assembling several hundred tie-patching kits needed by the soldiers for mending patches, air mattresses, rubber boots. A personal note was included with the gifts.

A Steady Flow. Countless others, organizations and individuals, have loaded the mails, many using the TOWN TOPICS published list of servicemen, others mailing to a particular combat unit or to the boy who a few years ago was riding a bike by their house. Marine PFC Timothy W. West opened his gifts last year in the monsoon rain and mud on Hill 54 at Tam Ky. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Donn West of 15 Crown Lane, Lawrenceville, he came home last week.

"There was supposed to be a cease fire until January 2," he says, "but it's just a political thing — for publicity. We got a few rounds nearly every day."

On the day before Christmas Tim, his two guitars "and about six of us traveled around in a USO show. We went to all the marine infantry in our area. . . . I came off the USO tour with two bags of mail from my family and people I didn't even know."

The mail was from all over — Colorado, California, everywhere. We put it in a pile and started opening up. Christmas dinner was in the mess tent on the hill. We had turkey and lots of free beer. There was enough food for seconds."

Another marine, Sgt. Richard A. Rice of 3d Recon Hill Road, was in Okinawa last Christmas, at the point of embarking for Vietnam. Christmas week, he was en route to Vietnam, arriving about New Year's Day. Now 23, he was a member of a Third Marines radio relay battalion in the hills at Dong Ha near the DMZ when he was wounded last July by shrapnel from a rocket fired eight miles away.

During the monsoon the paper is always wet or moldy, or the pen won't work! People stationed in Danang or Cam Ranh Bay don't need these things, though.

Because of the holiday schedule for the next two weeks, TOWN TOPICS' deadline for display advertising will be Friday, December 22 and 29 at 5 p.m. Classified ads not cancelled by that time, but unclassified advertising, will be accepted until Tuesday at 5 p.m. News stories and pictures should be submitted as early as possible.

OKINAWA: Sgt. Richard A. Rice Jr., USMC, opened his Christmas mail in Okinawa, the Marine staging area, last year. A member of the Third Marine Division, he arrived in Vietnam around January 1.

A cannoneer in the 3rd 155-Gun Battalion of the 11th Marines, Tim has served for 21 months. "I have 187 days to go. He fought in the whole area Chu Lai, Quang Nai, Dak Bo, Danang, even in the Mekong Delta for a while and was involved in Operations Union 1, 2 and 3, and in Operation Cocaine last fall. A "short timer," now, he will be based at Camp Lejeune in North Carolina as a cannoneer instructor.

Gift List. Commenting on the gifts his family had sent, he noted, "White socks are good. There's no dye in them and they help your feet. Other things we needed back there were white handkerchiefs, light oil, toothbrushes, paint brushes, gloves — thin like a second skin, long — an dewar in the winter, sunglasses."

Writing paper is scarce.

HILL 54, at Tam Ky, South Vietnam, was where PFC Timothy W. West, USMC, celebrated Christmas last year. "I think I got a letter from every state in the union!"

Seriously hurt in the lung and spleen, he was helicoptered to the sick bay of a nearby carrier and then flown to the Great Lakes Naval Hospital. Given leave after a month, he spent September on leave and is now at Camp Pendleton in San Diego on limited duty. "We've been very lucky," his father says.

Aboard the "Corral Sea," Ensign John L. Dunning Jr., 21, of 168 Prospect Street, will see his second Christmas with the carrier's Coral Sea this Monday. The carrier put into Hong Kong last year after a term of Vietnam.

"He said last year that he got about 14 or 15 letters from Princeton people he didn't know," his father reports. "It was kind of exciting," he said. He's very fond of Princeton.

A communications and signal officer on the Coral Sea, now off Vietnam, he expects the carrier to be there at Christmas.

Bud Sparring was an operations and plans officer for the special assistant to General Westmoreland in Saigon, worked on Christmas morning and had Christmas dinner with the pastor of the local international Protestant church. It's Never Too Late to Help

(From the 1967 Town Topics Christmas Appeal)

MR. B.

"Protracted psychiatric care is essential if Mr. B. and his appealing family are to survive. Some weeks ago Mr. B., owner of a struggling mail business, came to Family Service to inquire about the possibilities of placing his three children — aged 13, 14 and 15 — in a 'better home.' Obviously distraught, and haunted by the fear that something awful was about to happen to his loved ones, his business, and himself, Mr. B. had reached the point where he believed that he might be able to regain control of himself and his nerve if the children were out of the home temporarily.

"Mr. B., who has worked incredible hours in building his family's future, was made to see that his own anxieties and his feeling that his health was about to fail are matters which can be discussed with others. Gradually, with professional guidance, Mr. B. is making excellent progress in grappling with his difficulties and at age 45 is coming to believe that his and his devoted wife will be able to maintain his home and business and educate the children."

Contributions to the TOWN TOPICS Fund, administered through the Family Service Agency, are of assistance to the cases described throughout the coming year. This week, $4,103 has been at hand. Those who have not yet given may mail checks (payable to The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund) to P.O. Box 664 or bring them to 4 Mercer Street.

TEEN REPORT RELEASED

From Mayor's Committee. The report of the Mayor's Committee on Youth was released to the public this week.

The Committee was appointed in January by Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson at the suggestion of Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University. Mayor Patterson had summoned a group of those interested in teens to a meeting at the First Presbyterian Church in November, 1966. President Goheen attended that meeting and afterward told Mayor Patterson that the University's experts were available to the community to work on teen problems.

The Committee on Youth subsequently appointed by the mayor, combined University expertise with the experience of men at the Seminary and Educational Testing Service.

The seven who signed the report are Dr. Suzanne Keller, chairman of the committee and a sociologist at Princeton; Dr. Robert A. Scott, sociology; Dr. Lawrence A. Pervin, psychology; Dr. Duane Lockard, politics and public affairs; Carl A. Fields, Assistant Director of Student Aid at the University; the Rev. Arthur Adams, Princeton Theological Seminary; and Dr. David Ross, enhan, psychologist at Educational Testing Service. They were assisted by Victor A. Marshall, graduate student, who conducted an "informal attitude survey" of teen-agers over a three month period during the summer.

Step Number One. "We regard this as a first step," said Dr. Keller at a press conference held on Tuesday, "and

"MERRY CHRISTMAS" from Princeton teenagers. Above (clockwise from top center) are Geoff Michael, Tom Griggs, Dana Breese, Lynn Hoagland and John Pinzer. The teens are busy this week decorating the new Youth Center, where an open house for community youth is scheduled for this Saturday. (Staff Photo)

We urge the community to be providing various kinds of make a much more representative, more professional survey."

She added, "there is no 'one-shot' solution—like recreation or stronger family life, or whatever. We need many different approaches, and participation by every group in town."

The Committee makes these broad recommendations:

- Co-ordinate existing youth activities through regular monthly meetings of all agencies involved with youth.

- Establish a town youth board, operated by young people themselves, with two or three adults to serve full-time as advisors.

- Examine existing programs to see whether they are meeting the needs of all Princeton's young people and

- Consider ways the University's facilities might be used—can football or basketball games be opened to Princeton's young audiences for example?

- Set up grievance procedures so that teens and under-graduates, teens and police, teens and local merchants can air their mutual resentments and consider solutions.

- Develop long-term education and job-training programs for deprived youths.

- The Committee believes it essential that all groups of town youth people be included in discussions and planning, and the Committee also feels—Continued on Next Page

The Friday Story

The shortest day
In all the year
Comes just in time
For Christmas cheer!

Sure enough, there'll be less daylight on Friday than during any other 24 hours. To make it all official, winter will arrive promptly at 8:10 a.m.

Shoppers this week might have been buying with an early Easter in mind, that with the temperature moving close to 60 degrees. It won't last, of course, although it does dim the prospects for a White Christmas.

Colder over the weekend, but snow? Don't count on it, the Man says.

Topics Of The Town

strongly that discussions should be merely for the purpose of letting off steam, but should lead to action that will help solve the problems.

Three Groups. Who are these "groups of town young people?" Mr. Marshall's summer survey identified three broad categories of Princeton teenagers:

1. School-oriented. These teens go to heavily for school sports and organized extra curricular activities, and are close to home and family. Incidentally, many of these youngsters don't think there is a serious youth problem in Princeton.

2. Society. These teens are likely to go to college. They have a social life which exists outside the school, and two-thirds of them think Princeton's teen problems arise because there isn't enough for kids to do.

3. Non-school oriented. Dr. Ketter and Dr. Lockard don't think of this group as being solely Negro. Many of the youngsters come from families, white and black, that have lived here for a long time. They are a Dr. Ketter's words, "low income, low aspiration" families. These teens are a Dr. Ketter's words, "making like they own it," and in many cases, this means University undergraduates. It is this resentment that causes the occasional flare-ups between town and campus and it is this town group that is most frequently involved.

Most of the Committee's concern is for young people who aren't now being reached, and members of the Committee strongly urge adults to power to work from the fact that not all Princeton's young people are wealthy or college bound.

"We need more imagination to help these hostile kids who have tuned out of the system," observed Dr. Lockard at the press conference.

The Committee emphasizes that these youngsters should be consulted about what they want, so that whatever is done can be done "with" them, and not "for" them.

Police Are Charged. These non-school oriented teens believe that, whenever they brush up against undergraduates, the University students will go free, and the town teens will get the punishment. They believe that Princeton's police are out to get them, and that they have no way of obtaining redress against undergraduates except by taking "justice" into their own hands.

Girls from all three town groups say they object to the way University students treat them, and boys from all three groups resent University students who try to pick up town girls, sometimes even when they are with town boys.

However, the report found a strong University student sentiment, a "reservoir of good will" toward young people, and a willingness to launch any programs which might involve teen-agers and undergraduates in common activity of some kind.

What Next? The report's recommendations for the future are weakened somewhat by the fact that several were already in operation before the report was released.

A co-ordinating committee, for example, has been in existence for more than a year. A town youth board called the Teen Youth Committee, consisting of 18 representative young people, has been meeting weekly for three months to set goals and to solve short-range problems like getting volunteers for the Youth Center. The center itself is presumably the "off Nassau Street" facility recommended by the report.

Mayor Patterson believes the first thing to do is work harder on coordination. This year-old committee, he said on Tuesday, is stronger now than it was, but needs to be even better. The mayor added that he will confer with a Teen Youth official to talk about a youth board—should it be appointed by the Borough, or named from some other source? The overall picture is shadowed also by the nature of the survey. Its most glaring weakness is that Mr. Marshall wasn't able to interview enough young Negro people. Dr. Lockard admitted this situation and said the Committee was well aware of the problem. Also, Mr. Marshall had no opportunity to interview a sample of undergraduates because he began his survey as late in the spring. His Princeton High interviews were hampered by its late-semester scheduling, also.

Whether the full-scale survey recommended by Dr. Keller will be made, is not known. The report, wary of any rating, points out that these are times of change, and urges an Advisory Committee — whose members will continue to assess and interpret the young scene.

We can't sit back and say "let the parents do it," said Mayor Patterson on Tuesday. "The town must do something about it. . . . we must ask people to suggest approaches and give us ideas."

TOWNSHIP VS. BOROUGH
Parking Ordinance Attacked. Princeton Township will carry its objection to the Borough's new parking ordinance to the State Division of Motor Vehicle.

Committee decided Monday night to use the services of Miss Strelecki, director of the division, telling her that Township spokesmen appeared last week before Borough Council to protest new Borough regulations limiting parking at a town of Princeton High School to two hours, and enclosing a map to show how Committee thinks the Township will be affected.

The Township is afraid the Borough's new limit will send high school drivers over the line into the Township where they can park all day.

Committeemen are writing to Miss Strelecki because the Motor Vehicle Division must approve all municipal traffic and parking ordinances.

Urges Stranger Approach. Actually, the Township's move will be milder than the request originally made Monday night by Henry J. Frank, chairman of the Township's Traffic Safety Committee.

He suggested that Committee ask Miss Strelecki to reject the portion of the ordinance that applies to Moore and Jefferson, the two streets the Township thinks may suffer most from Borough over flow.

But Committee decided instead merely to record its objections with the division, and explain the reasons behind them.

Motor Vehicle officials had a hand in one of the Township's own ordinances, passed after public hearing Monday night. This one limits night time parking in the Community Park South lot, the one between the extensions of Race and John.

Originally, the ordinance banned "commercial" vehicles; however, the Motor Vehicle Division told the Township that if the word "commercial" were used, the Division would reject the ordinance as discriminatory.

Motor Vehicle then suggested that "truck" be substituted, and after Committeemen Harry J. Volzender went one step farther and suggested "buses" too, the ordinance was passed.

Parking will be prohibited between 2 and 8 a.m. on the north side of the lot on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays, and on the south side on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Trucks and buses may not park at any time.

Committee also passed the ordinance curtailing parking on Guyot between Ewing and Walnut next to John Witherspoon School. Subject to Motor Vehicle approval.

In another traffic matter, Committee took under advisement Traffic Safety's recommendation to ask for a county speed survey on South Harrison, a county road. Residents are concerned about the 50 m.p.h. limit between Hartley Avenue and the Lake Carnegie bridge.

Can You Turn Around? Committee accepted part of Laurel Road from Princeton Heights, Inc., asking for the developer for a $500 one-year maintenance bond.

the protest of Mr. Frank, who believes that acceptance freezes the two Laurel cuts de sac. (One portion of Laurel goes south off Ewing and ends in a cul-de-sac. Another portion comes in north from Mainview and ends in a cul-de-sac. The two portions of road are connected by a sidewalk.) Mr. Frank wants the cul-de-sac broken and Laurel put straight through. He charged that these small circles of road are difficult and expensive to snow plow, and narrow for police and fire equipment to maneuver in.

Engineer Frank Quinby told Mr. Frank that now cul-de-sacs, including Laurel's, have five feet more pavement than odd lots and a longer radius. Mr. Frank questioned Committee's decision to ask the State Supreme Court for a ruling in the Langridge builders case. He said that since the Superior Court's Appellate Division had ruled unanimously against the Township, it might be cheaper for the taxpayers to let the matter rest.

Committee member Burton Peskin and Planning Board chairman Hank Sander replied that the Township hopes for a broader result than just an overturning of the lower court's ruling.

Mr. Sander explained that the recent court decision questioned the right of the Planning Board to require Long Ridge to build the road, but supported the Planning Board's right to require certain drainage and utility installations. "We want this clarified," he said.

Committee followed the example of Borough Council and lobbied "without prejudice" the application of Air Brook Service, Inc., for permission to operate a bus between Princeton and New Jersey airports. Nobody from Air Brook showed up at Monday's meeting. Nobody went to Borough Council last week, either.

MAYOR AGAIN: Carl C. Schafer is slated for election in his fourth term as mayor of Princeton Township at the municipal organization meeting on New Year's Day. In the Township, the mayor is elected each year by Committee members from their own membership. Technically, the mayor is "chairman" of Township Committee. Mr. Schafer has already agreed to serve again.

Several of her teeth were wired at Princeton Hospital where she was treated and released.

Her car also struck a pedestrian, Mrs. Sandra Berbe of 11 Cold Soil Road, Lawrence Township, also treated at Princeton Hospital and released. Two sutures were used to close a cut on her right leg.

Three witnesses told police that they saw Miss Turner's car veer to the right but none was able to offer any explanation. One told P.I. Timothy Hinzang, the investigating officer, that Miss Turner veered as if to avoid hitting some thing, but he could not see anything in the roadway. Miss Turner's car snapped one pole. Its weight caused the second pole to snap. The 8:19 p.m. accident is still under investigation.

Girl Hit Crossing Street: Saturday morning at 10:19 Miss Nina Maruca, 11, of Province Line Road, was struck while crossing Nassau Street at University Place. Miss Maruca, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Maruca, was treated for contusions of the right leg. She was released from Princeton Hospital following X-rays.

Seymour Silberman, 43, of Trenton, the driver, was ticketed by Sgt. Robert J. Anderson for failing to yield to a pedestrian at a crosswalk.

Mr. Silberman told police that he was in the process of passing three cars, waiting for the light, on the right and that when he reached the crosswalk he saw the girl but was unable to stop in time. Sgt. Anderson said that said marks revealed the driver had tried to avoid hitting the girl.

Five Youths Hurt: Earlier in the week, five youths were injured when their car hit a well-post on Stockton Street and went out of control 300 yards west of Edgerstone Road. The car was a total loss.

Most seriously injured was the driver, Melvin Best, 22, 290 Witherspoon Street. He received contusions, a concussion, and lacerations of the face. Pamela C. Jackson, 20, of Lawrence Township, sustained a concussion, contusions and a laceration of the scalp, requiring three sutures.

Turntable Junction
Flemington, N. J.

Go Ahead. Spend The Extra Few Dollars. It's Christmas, isn't It?

Think of the many pleasant hours of baseball, football, basketball, and hockey your wife can enjoy when you give her a Sylvania color TV.

Sylvania makes color TVs for people who love their wives. And baseball, football, basketball, and hockey (not necessarily in that order).

There are 53 models in all, and each makes a timely and thoughtful gift anytime you give it. (They're televising more baseball and football than ever this year. Same with basketball, hockey, golf, etc.)

Your wife will especially enjoy Sylvania's Colorbright 850 picture tube. And the way it makes infield grass look like infield grass, not pea soup.

Behind the tube is a mystifying assembly of transistors, integrated circuits, and other components called the chassis.

Sylvania chassis are made by people who couldn't care more about such things. For people who couldn't care less.

Almost everything worth worrying about is automatic. So your wife won't miss any of the action fidgeting with the picture.

There's the "ASC" button — a control that automatically fine tunes the set.

There's the automatic Color Level Monitor, which automatically readjusts the color levels when you change stations.

There's the automatic degaussing circuit which automatically degausses. (It keeps the colors from mixing. It also lets you move the set around the living room without calling a repairman to get them unspiced again.)

And since some wives also like furniture, Sylvania takes its cabinets seriously.

The cabinet on Model CF21WS above, for example, has a hand-rubbed, oiled-walnut veneer — in a Scandinavian design (with swivel base). It's dustable, polishable, and she can put a centerpiece on top.

Go ahead. Splurge. Your wife's worth it.

THREE ARE CHARGED
With shoplifting at Ham's,
Two Witherspoon Street women and a juvenile have been charged in separate acts of shoplifting at Hamberger's Department Store in Princeton Shopping Center.

Detective Frederick Porter identified the women as Josephine Powell, 22, and Mary Murphy, 24, both of 290 Witherspoon Street. Miss Powell was charged with allegedly taking a $30 dress on December 8.
Miss Murphy was alleged to have shoplifted a dress and a sweater with a combined value of $20 on the same date.
Both were apprehended by Mrs.
Custance Ware of Hamber-
ger's security department.
The two women were scheduled to face a hearing for jar-emy on Wednesday before Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr.
The juvenile will be turned over for action by juvenile authorities.

Detective Porter warned that this is the time of the year for an upsurge in shoplifting. All stores should be alert and notify police immediately, he said. He commended the security department at Hamberger's for their alertness and the number of apprehensions it had made throughout the year.
"Shoplifting is a big thing," said Detective Porter. "It's a William dollar a year business."
An untold number of people are picked up every year for it.

No Carols to Square
The Princeton community
carol sing, a Christmas Eve tradition in Palmer Square for three decades, will not be held this year.

According to Bernard Glover, president of the Princeton Lions Club, the sponsoring group, the fact that Christmas Eve falls on a Sunday had made it impossible to find choir to lead the singing. The Lions have concluded that Princeton residents will attend the Christmas Eve services in their churches.

Although the carol sing and the spotlighted appearance of Santa Claus on a Palmer Square rooftop were snooked out last year and given a Sunday punch
this year, the Lions Club hopes to keep the tradition going next year.

rims valued at $150 were stolen between 2 and 8 p.m. Sunday from a trailer parked behind the construction site of an office building adjacent to Creger Motors on Route 206.

John Allard of John Allard Contractors, Washington

loss to Township police.

An estimated 120 in coins was removed from three vending machines in women's rest rooms located on the first and second floors of the Opinion Research Corporation building on N. Harrison Street. The theft took place over the weekend.
Police stated that a key had been used to enter the machines, as there was no sign of forced entry. Frank Lombardi, a maintenance man, reported the thefts. Sgt. John Petronio investigated.

A corner of a front plate glass window and a side panel was shattered early Sunday morning at Bovino's Market 39 Leigh Avenue.
Two large stones were found inside the store shortly after midnight by the investigating officer, Ptl. Olinio Carneof $120 were missing. Patrolmen Timothy Haining and Stanley Donald investigated.

Steal Radio, Trier Auto

to report that two men had grabbed two transistor radios from a counter and fled.
Mrs. Merla Burkhardt, a salesclerk, who saw the theft and chased the pair toward Huffish Street before she lost them, described the shoplifters as Negroes, 25 years old and about six feet tall. One was

CARNEYALE LIEUTENANT
 Ralph Proccacino, Sergeant, Michael Carneyale, a 12-year veteran on the Borough police force, has been chosen to replace Lt. Francis Maguire, who will resign at the end of the year to become chief of West Windsor Township.

For Ralph Proccacino, a member of the force for 13 years, has been named sergeant to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Carneyale. The two were chosen on the basis of an extensive three-part examination. Their appointment will become effective January 1.

The appointments will be announced Wednesday at a special meeting of Mayor and Council by the Public Safety Committee. Police Commissioner William Walker is chairman of the committee which evaluates the selection.

To bring the Borough's force up to its level of 26 men, Kenneth P. Samuel, 33, Lehigh Avenue, has been named a probationary officer. He will join the force January 1.

Was Infantry Sergeant. Born and raised in Princeton, Sgt. Carneyale, 36, graduated from Princeton High School in 1949. He was an infantry sergeant in the Korean War before joining the force December 1, 1955. He was named sergeant November 1, 1961. He lives at 246 Hawthorne Avenue, just a few houses away from Lt. Maguire, whom he replaces.

Ptl. Proccacino, 35, has served as the Borough's full-time juvenile officer for the past two years. He joined the department on December 15, 1964. Like Sgt. Carneyale, he is a native Princetonian and lives at 267 Ewing Street.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that no decision has been made yet on who will replace Ptl. Proccacino as juvenile officer.

Mr. Samuel is a native of Merrifield, Va., and a graduate of Luther Jackson High School. A Negro, he is currently employed as a security guard at Princeton University. He is the first Princeton resident to join the force since Charles Harris joined in 1960.

Three-Part Test. The men were selected on the basis of a point-total derived from a written, three-part examination. The first part, worth 30 percent, was a written examination given

PETITIONS FILED

For School Board. Two Borough residents have filed for election to three-year terms on the Princeton Regional School Board.

They are Dr. William Z. Ahrens, 33 University Place, and Jay Lockyer, 9 College Road. John H. Marks, 107 Moore Street, has taken out a petition but has not filed it yet in the Township. Charles Jaffe will run again for the Board.

The deadline for filing petitions is Thursday, December 28, at 4 p.m., Stony Brook Administration Building, Stockton Street.

DO YOU DRAW?

You Can Learn. Three new classes in drawing and painting will be offered during the winter term starting January 12 by the Princeton Art Association in the Association's studio, 14 Nassau.

A 16-week course in painting and drawing for beginners and advanced students, will be taught by Jan Swearer of Princeton. The classes will be held on Tuesday afternoons, and will include instruction in graphics and watercolor.

An evening painting class will be taught by Saul Lamm on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 10:30 for ten weeks. Mr. Lamm, an artist who maintains a studio at 26 Nassau, will give brief lecture-demonstrations at each class session and will exhibit on Tuesdays.

The True Spirit

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the wonderful people from Leon aged 60 on up, who are giving of themselves to help the children and adults in various programs of the Princeton Study Center.

Why Javalinas Go Wrong

To the Editor of Town Topics: Princeton's movie theaters had a nice selection for the kiddies last weekend. At the Playhouse they could see "Murder, She Wrote," described by one review as follows: "Dazzling! Fighting, biting, ripping, rapping, they swarm over the guards and guests and drag the spectator into the delirium." (The Playhouse manager told me on the phone that he with some arthritis, decided to not recommend this movie for children but they could at least if accompanied.)

Then at the Garden they could see "The Birds," the Bess correct directional turn to the left. According to town and got about as far as the Town Topics review, this Castle Howard, straddling the is a three part comedy with center yellow strip, with trail addlers, as the common fic coming and going on both sides. industry has totally failed in its responsibility to the public. Many movies shown in Princeton are unfit for people of any age, let alone children. But the movie industry is not alone to blame. Has Driver's Identity Sought?

To the Editor of Town Topics: One morning last week in the midst of rain, fog and near zero visibility on the Kingston Road, our old bulldog, aged 11, blind in one eye, deaf and with some arthritis, decided to follow us to school. He had never been out on the highway before.

Apparently he made the correct directional turn to the left and got about as far as the Town Topics review, this Castle Howard, straddling the is a three part comedy with center yellow strip, with trail addlers, as the common fic coming and going on both sides. But if the kids didn't sides of him, Mr. D. Heaved his bus toward the center strip behind the dog, came to a stop and immediately started his loading and unloading red blinker lights, fore and aft, which automa- cally halted all the traffic in both directions.

We endeavored through the school system to find the bus driver, but it was impossible. This letter is really written, therefore, in the hope that the bus driver, or kids that were on it, will read this, and thank him very much for "heads up" want. NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter or subjects directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Those received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

Henry Avenue to Jefferson Road, then up to the nice light at Wiggins, down Witherpoon to park across the street from me, backing into a spot uphill (especially nice in slippery weather). Or, he could sneak in a U-turn, or come around Henry Avenue to Franklin, up Witherpoon to the extension of Wiggins, stop at the nice top sign, come down John Street (a one-way street) to Green, then make a left turn into Witherpoon and park. If he cannot find a spot, he may then repeat the route a few more times until he is lucky.

But strangely enough, sick people like to get started on their medication as soon as possible and especially in the case of children, parents don't particularly care to wait for the usual pharmacy delivery.

A persistent mother might beat the new parking situation, but I must warn her to bring all the children into the pharmacy with her, otherwise little Johnny might decide to run out of the car across the street to see Mommy.

The Emergency Medical Service in the hospital will have to mimeograph maps with arrows to direct out of towners how to go after their emergency prescriptions.

My surgical supply department will have to give way to some new sideline like toys or a lending library, since Granddad may not be able to take the long trip and won't be very happy crossing the busy street in bad weather to pick out a wheelchair, or be fitted for a walker or crutches while in a cast.

When I opened six years ago, the Borough was happy to have me tear down a small pharmacy that was adjoined in the rear by a condemned wooden shack. Apparently, the new services I brought to Princeton are not very important. I guess to some, a pharmacy is just a place to buy a tube of toothpaste or a lipstick and get a pleasant thank you.

This omnibus ordinance was passed at a public meeting with a handful present, and an exception can still be made on Witherpoon Street.

If there are enough people who feel that a pharmacy is needed on a peripheral street, that our store has made a worthwhile contribution to the welfare of the community; that I have seriously done my best to interest myself in and help in all areas where the pharmacy profession has responsibility, I hope they will make known to the Mayor and Council.

for basic instruction in all painting media. Beginners and more advanced students are equally welcome.

A Saturday morning course in drawing and painting will be given for teenagers by Mrs. Elaine Gail Coker. The eight-week course has been planned for young artists who have shown some talent and serious interest. The age range will be from junior high through college.

The Art Association will invite teen-agers to compete for a scholarship that will be given for the teen course. Details will be announced in the schools. Classes will start Jan. 22, and will recess the week of February vacation.

For Experienced Painters, Dagmar Tribble will teach watercolor and still life in a series of five Monday morning classes designed for experienced watercolor painters only.

Margaret K. Johnson will teach the course in visual design that she gives at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. The Princeton class will be given on ten Thursday mornings.

David Chinpin will continue his Wednesday afternoon and evening painting classes, and there will be models in four of the sessions.

School children, elementary school age, join an after-school class on Thursdays taught by Pat Kern. Adults who would like to refresh and develop their models, are invited to inquire about two weekly sessions scheduled for the Tuesday mornings and Thursdays evening, for a ten-week period.

Membership in the Association is required for enrollment in all classes. Brochures with information and registration forms will be available after Christmas.

Information about membership may be obtained from Mr. Leo Friend, 824 7441, or Mr. Simon Marcov, 911 9253.

YULE CHRISTMAS ELVES

At Red Cross Christmas projects are varied and bright as the lights on a tree are under way for work by members of the United Cross Youth under the direction of Mrs. Gregory Sage.

The youth program is being financed by contributions from the young people themselves, and the money they have given will buy Christmas trees, gifts and decorations for many institutions in the Princeton area.

Beneficiaries of this Christmas spirit will be the Cuban Refugee Emergency Center in Miami, Florida, which will receive 600 "friendship houses" from Princeton High School under a project directed by Nancy Steen, high school senior.

Decorated Christmas trees, place mats and centerpieces will be taken to the Neuro Psychiatric Institute in Skillman, and young artists there will receive Christmas stockings full of gifts.

Trinity Church, Trenton, will continue on Page 10.

ART OF DEFENSE LOST

As Duke Trims Tigers, 85-79. The Princeton basketball team has gone home for Christmas, hoping fervently that Santa Claus will provide its members with the key to tonight's defensive play. Without it, the post-holiday tournament in Portland, Oregon, could be a bitter blow for them to swallow.

The Tigers lost to Duke at Durham, N. C., Tuesday night, because three of them fouled out trying to keep the Duke Devils in check, and because they allowed the home team's top point-producer, Mike Lewis, to score 39 points—13 more than his seasonal average. A fine second-half rally that pared a 18-point deficit to 3 died to the delight of 8,000 howling Carolinians because the Princeton defense rarely shut down on the home team when it counted most.

As in the contest with North Carolina Saturday, the Tigers fell behind after a close first half. Against Duke, however, while they had a bigger hurdle to clear, they left themselves more time to do it, and very nearly succeeded.

From the 41-35 margin it took into the locker room, Duke came back after the intermission to roll to a lead that once was as high as 62-47. To the credit of the Tiger bench, the ensuing rally was staged after both John Hummer and Chris Thomforde—and to add to the Princeton problems, sophomore Mike Marley, the first reserve inserted into the game, was likewise disqualified.

Guards Joe Heiser and Geoff I.L.

Petrie were the principal architects of the Tigers' surge. With 2:38 to go, they had cut the home team advantage to 78-70, half a minute later, Petrie drove down the keyhole for a spectacular layup to make it 78-75. However, he failed to convert on a possible three-point play, and that was the closest Princeton came.

Duke, meanwhile, almost invariably managed to shake a man loose when a basket was vital to its cause, or to draw a foul that was doubly valuable in because the visitors had put them in a one-and-one situation early in both halves. A betting the unstoppable situation—where 19 points in the first half were more than the Tigers could afford—was Dave Golden, who hit for 20 against a four-game average this season of 8.

A 25-21 lead with six minutes to go in the first half was the last time Princeton was on top. The defensive difficulties came early—Thomforde and Hummer both had three personal fouls before the first round ended, and Hummer drew his fourth in the first minute after play resumed.

Duke won the statistical battles: 47% from the floor to 45% for the lasers and 46 re-bounds to 36. As in the North Carolina game, all five Princeton starters were in double figures (Heiser, 18; Hanrow, 15; Hummer, 13; Petrie, 11; Thomforde, 10), but even that isn't good enough when the defense breaks down.

PHS SKATERS WIN FIRST 7-3 Over Brick Township. Princeton High School's hockey team spotted Brick Township a first-period goal and then came on to score the next seven over three periods Tuesday evening at the Princeton Day School rink to defeat the visitors from Point Pleasant 7-2. The Little Tigers are now

"It was good to have a game on Monday, January 23, in which we could operate like this," said PHS coach Pete Cook. "It's the kind of game the boys need to get their bearings."

Scoring for the Blue and White were John Mueller, a senior; Clint Olson, Jeff Delano, Steve Holsington and Hugh Fitzpatrick. Cook also cited the play of his three goalies—Bob McCloskey, Jim Warren and Bruce Hartman, each of whom played a period. Hartman is only a freshman.

Other Sports

On Pages 41-44

Before a scanty group of about 40 onlookers, consisting mostly of parents of the players and a few alumni, PHS took control of the game after the visitors scored first. "We played a little better hockey this time," said Cook.

Like PHS, Brick Township has been playing the sport just a few years. "They still don't have any outstanding players," said Cook. "They're beginners."

PHS next plays the Eagle Wood Hockey Club here Friday evening at 6:15. It will be the first meeting between the two. "You don't know what you're playing when you play your club," commented Cook. "They change so much from year to year."

After Friday's game, PHS will break for the holidays, resuming January 5 here against the Summit Hockey Club.

BANQUET SCHEDULED For Scholar-Athletes. This year's football Hall of Fame scholar-athlete banquet sponsored by the Delaware Valley Chapter of the National Foundation will be held at 6:30 at the Rider College dining hall. As in the past, an honorary plaque and certificate will be awarded to the outstanding scholar-athlete in the prep, high school and college divisions. Other top nominees will receive certificates as runner-up. Chairman Irwin Weiss has sent application blanks to principals, guidance counselors, athletic directors and football coaches of all schools and colleges in the area.

BOLSTER RANKED 5TH

In Swimming by AAU. Andy Bolster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bolster, Parkside Drive, has been listed by the AAU among the first five swimmers in his age group in the United States for 1967.

The list appeared in "Swimming World," a publication devoted to swimming competition. Andy's time of 1:21.8 for the 100-yard breaststroke for boys 10 and under earned him fifth position. His best time of 1:15 for the 50-meter breaststroke for boys 10 and under also earned him a nationwide ranking of fifth place. In the 55-yard breaststroke, distance less frequently listed, he placed second in the country with a time of 41.1.

Bolster is a member of the Princeton YMCA Flying Fish team. He is now swimming in events for boys 11-12.

LEAD IS SHAKED

By Russo's Hampshire House. Displaced last week from the top spot, Hampshire has regained a share of the lead in the Women's Bowling League. It is tied with Russo's Cafe for first place with 22 points each.

There is also a tie for second place, where Mike's Sinclair and Kingsway Motor are even at 18-all. Swift's Colonial Drive has 16.

Elle Armstrong, and Stuart Country Day represented by Terry Sheehan, will stage a Christmas party for 100 residents of "Morrow East House" at Skidmore, and Connie Sayen for Princeton Day School will be in charge of a Christmas party for "Morrow West." A group of singers from Stuart Country Day will sing for patients in three other Institute homes.

Back home at Princeton Hospital, the Red Cross Youth will distribute gifts and stockings to youngsters in the pediatric section. Holiday place mats, made by Red Cross Youth, will go to "Morrow," the hospital's extended care unit.

El Mar, Sunnyfield, The Elms, Sunlaw, Windsor and Doctors Nursing Home are other nursing homes that will receive Christmas decorations. Elderly men and women at Morris Hall, Lawrenceville, will have decorated place mats on their Christmas dinner table.

Two eight-foot Christmas trees will be decorated for the children at Fort Dix and an assortment of Christmas stockings, ornaments and toys will go to children at the McGuire Air Force Base.

trees have been tagged for the Watson Army Hospital at Fort Dix, and there will be special gifts for the women patients at this hospital.

Community Park youngsters will decorate an eight-foot tree in the Princeton Public Library.

Eleven schools in Princeton have youngsters participating in the Red Cross Youth Christmas programs. They are Princeton High School, Community Park, Valley Road, Johnson Park, Riverside, Littlebrook, John Witherspoon, Miss Mason's Princeton Day School, St. Paul's, and Stuart Country Day.

Other participating schools are the Maurice H. Hawk and Dutch Neck schools in West Windsor, the Plainsboro public school, Kingston primary and grammar school, Lawrence Township No. Four and Lawrenceville public school, four schools in Hightstown including Hightstown High School, the Cranbury school and schools in Allentown and Robbinsville.

FILL ONE FOR ME: Christmas stockings for the Red Cross Youth Christmas program are full of goodies packed under a yuletide of Santa's helpers. team game, an 849. The high jump series of 2202 was claimed by Mike's Sinclair. Florence Ivins led the individual bowlers with 221 (527). Joyce Thomas had 202. Marilyn Silvester, 182-171 (320). Marilyn Murphy, 175; and Pat Brown, 170. Betty Cooper, Helen Scott, Geri Plunger, Mrs. Ivins and Mrs. Silvester converted difficult splits.

NCA IS 3-0
As Industrial League Opens: After the third week of play, NCA is in first place with a 3-0 record in the YMCA, Re search and Industrial Basketball League.

Last week, NCA defeated Hospital, 29-50. Leading the NCA attack were Joe Cyborski and Jack Oberndorf who scored 24 and 16 points respectively.

like Johnson and Ed Riddick had 13 each for Hospital.

In a second game, George Barton collected 13 points to lead ETS to a narrow, 32-30 victory over RCA. Jim Wilno was high for the losers with 12. Shell was forced to forfeit its contest with FMC because of a lack of players. Games are played every Tuesday night in the PHS gym. There is no admission charge.

In an earlier game, Hospital trounced ETS, 65-32, behind the shooting of Riddick and Johnson who combined for 35 points. Dan Golewsky's 11 paced the losers.

In other contests, FMC defeated RCA, 60-41, and NCA had little trouble securing a 60-23 victory over Shell.

Adrien Gosselin had a 20 points for FMC. Jim Wilno led RCA with 18. Cyborski was the big man for NCA, as he hit for 26 points. No one for Shell was able to reach double figures, although Bill Cruse came close with nine points.

BASKETBALL AVAILABLE

At PHS Gym During Holiday. During the holiday season the gym at Princeton High School will be available to Princeton area boys for basketball. Sponsors are the YMCA and the Board of Education.

The program will be held December 28 through the 30th from 1 to 3 p.m. Harry Van, PHS basketball coach, is in charge of the program. All boys participating must wear sneakers.

For the first time, the Y will conduct a holiday round-robin for area boys in the 7th and 8th grades under the leadership of men from Princeton Seminary. The program will start on Tuesday with an introduction and continue through the 30th. It will be held from 10 a.m. to noon and all boys must wear sneakers.

The KLH Model Eleven.

One of our good customers, faced with the choice of taking his wife or KLH Model Eleven to Port Said—took his wife.

Of course.

We don't make silly claims about the Eleven. But we'll bet you see more KLH Model Eleven's going places with people who go places than any other stereo portable on the market.

The reason is simple. The Eleven is a portable that's really portable. Just 28 pounds of solid musical performance. It's got KLH quality throughout. There are specially designed KLH full range speakers; a distortion-free solid state amplifier; an automatic turntable custom-built for KLH by Garrard; magnetic cartridge and diamond stylus; inputs for tuner and tape recorder, and many other features.

Come down to the store. Listen to the big sound of a little Eleven. It's for sure you'll run out of the store with one. And you won't need muscles or track shoes. It's that light. So is the price.

TOPICS Of The Town

SING ME TO SLEEP

Folk Lullabies in Book.
"Some of these melodies are so beautiful, so profound that any of the greatest composers—Bach or Mozart or Beethoven—would be proud to sign his name to one."

A luminous woman with deep eyes and hair the color of moonlight lovingly turns the pages of a beautiful book of lullabies. She is Dorothy Berliner Commins, musician, anthropologist and author of "Lullabies of the World," published just in time for Christmas and scheduled to be a Book-of-the-Month selection some time in 1968.

Soon after Christmas, Mrs. Commins will leave Princeton with a tape recorder for a whole year of travel across the world, collecting more songs. Her sponsor is the Institute for International Education, and she will send back tapes of lullabies, play and game songs, for the library of the Information Center on Children's Cultures of the U. S. Committee for UNICEF.

"Lullabies of the World" is an awesome collection. It has been designed by P. J. Conkright of Princeton and it has on the cover (not the jacket) a mother and child sculpture by Margot Einstein of Princeton.

Inside are the lullabies, their single melodic line printed with a piano setting by Mrs. Commins ("not an accompaniment," she insists, "a setting"). The words are in the original (Georgian, Yiddish, various forms of Arabic) and in English translation, and there are phonetics, too, so that a singer may sing in the original language if she'd like to try.

Translation, and then arranging English syllables to fit the music, presented interesting tactical problems. Mrs. Commins tells about one lullaby that came to her without translation, in an obscure language. After considerable search, she found an interpreter who knew the language, but when he saw that it was a lullaby, he smiled sadly. "I only know the political and diplomatic vocabulary," he told her, "nothing like this."

A Georgian lullaby came in written script from a source Mrs. Commins had in the Soviet Union. The publisher had to send to London for type to set the words in the Georgian language.

Not All is Sweetness. It's hard to tell whether Mrs. Commins finds more delight in words or in music. She will chuckle over a lullaby that starts off "Listen to me, you parents!"

But then she will turn to a lullaby that sings of the father who may come home drunk. "A mother will sing to a child what she cannot say to the child's father—or to a moth-er-in-law!"

"You are as ruddy as an orange!" sings one happy mother. "Tomorrow is the saint's day, and I have to wash your clothes," sings a practical mother in Guatemala.

"I wrote to every government in this world for lullabies!" Mrs. Commins recalls. "Sometimes I got no reply—after all, here's a letter in English from some woman who wants a lullaby and we can't even find enough rice to feed ourselves—she must be a madwoman!"

But many did reply. The lullaby about the baby as ruddy as an orange came in a letter with only the single melodic line of the song for Mrs. Commins to go by. One lullaby was sung to her by a woman who wept as she sang; the song had been sung to her by—Continued on Page 28

FOR THE CHRIST CHILD: Ronald Steelman, one of the shepherds in "The Second Shepherds Playset," smiles at the -lining bird he will present as his gift to the Christ Child. McCarter's production of the medieval mystery play will be given twice during the coming week.

News Of The THEATRES

CHRISTMAS AT MCCARTER
With Two Plays. Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," or "What You Will," originally written as a twelfth night revel for the court of Queen Elizabeth, will be given, somewhat in advance of twelfth night, this Friday at 8:30. It will be the final performance of McCarter's "Twelfth Night" production.

"The Second Shepherds' Playset," a one-act Christmas play, is part of McCarter's "Three One Acts," and it will play this Saturday and next Friday, December 29, both at 8:30. The final performance of Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple" will be given next Saturday, December 30 at 8:30 p.m.

SKO FOR "AMAIL"

Boychoir to Sing. Both performers by the Columbus Boychoir of "Amail and the Night Visitors" have been sold out; however, the young singers will be back at McCarter in the spring.

Gian Carlo Menotti's Christmas classic will be given in matinee and evening performances at McCarter this Thursday. Traditional Christmas carols will be included in the program.

Next spring, the Boychoir will make one of its rare Princeton concert appearances, singing in McCarter theatre at a date to be announced.

"HOGAN'S GOAT" COMING
After Postponement. The off-Broadway hit, "Hogan's Goat" will be presented in McCarter Theatre on Sunday, January 7, at 8:30 p.m.

The presentation follows a postponement of the play from its original October date, and tickets bought for the postponed performance will be honored on January 7. New tickets to John Jay Film. Ralph Jackson, comic skier, will be featured in the John Jay film, "Head for the Hills," scheduled for McCarter on Wednesday, December 27, at 8 p.m.

A COMIC ON SKIS

Mr. Jay himself will come to McCarter for the showing. The Dean of American Skiing is now celebrating his 25th anniversary as a maker of skis—23 feature-length documentaries of the sport made on every continent except the one with the most snow: Antarctica. Besides Mr. Jackson, who will be shown skiing in Hawaii, the film will show professionals in double slalom action at Stratton and members of the Olympic team performing at Vail.

TWO IN JANUARY

Pro Musica, Greco. The complete instrumental and vocal ensemble of the New York Pro Musica will return to McCarter on Monday, January 15, at 8:30 p.m.

On Sunday, January 21, Jose Greco will also return to McCarter with his company of Spanish dancers and musicians in an all-new program.

Pro Musica, founded by the late Noah Greenberg, is now under the direction of John White. For its program, this year, the group will present music of northern France and Flanders from the period 1400 to 1600.

PRINCE

Bonnie and Clyde (now playing) is a recounting of the true life story of Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow — two notorious criminals of the Thirties who robbed banks and killed some 10 persons in their brief careers. In essence, it amounts to a whitewash of two vicious people who left a trail of blood all over the Midwest before they were caught and slain.

The thesis of the script is that Bonnie and Clyde were just plain fools — a couple of misguided youngsters who — Continued on Next Page

The Christmas Concert by the Columbus Boychoir at McCarter Theatre on Thursday, December 21, is sold out. We are sorry to have disappointed some of our friends. The choir is planning another concert in the spring at McCarter. The boys and staff wish you a happy holiday season.

NOT THE CHRISTMAS TYPE: Three of the dolls currently on display at the Fox Theatre in Levittown. They're in the picture, "Valley of the Dolls," based on the best-selling novel about play-time in Hollywood.

 look to crime out of a sense of adventure and because of the Great Depression. They are shown as deeply in love and mutually disturbed over Clyde's sexual impotence. Clyde himself is pictured as a good guy who befriends sharecroppers and is strongly devoted to his brother, Bonnie. He has close family ties, too, and risks capture to visit her aging mother at a picnic. The bank robberies are treated as larks. The lawmen, by the way, are depicted as vain and vindictive types.

The factor that makes the protagonists appealing is the pacing of Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway. He is forthright and winning, and she is fascinating both for her attractive looks and her mercurial moods.

Whatever one thinks of the slanted viewpoint of the script, there's no denying that it has been splendidly acted and brilliantly directed. Arthur Penn's direction gives the picnic sequence a lyrical quality. His action sequences — car chases and gun fights — are exciting, and his use of slow motion in the final playing scene is tremendously effective.

GARDEN
 The Ambushers (starts this Friday) is the third of David Hamilton's racy spy spoofs to be filmed starring Dean Martin as Matt Helm. Previous entries were "The Silencers" and "Murderers' Row."

In "The Ambushers," a revolutionary new American out-er-space craft — actually a flying saucer — is hijacked by would-be world conquerors in Acapulco. Super agent Matt Helm is called in from retirement by MacDonald, chief of the counter-spy agency known as ICE. Helm arms himself with such gadgets as an electric-ray gun that can life and move objects, a cigarette that makes laughing gas and suspenders that become swords.

He leaves his bachelor's dream world apartment and his very private secretary and heads for Mexico. In Acapulco, he tangles with double agent Santa Berger and equally beautiful Janice Rule, pilot of the space craft. Girl watchers will find the slugs in action as usual — twelve beautiful who help Helm in his conflict with the forces of evil — and help him relax from the hazards of his profession. The villains Kurt Kasnar and Albert Salmi, are menacing and mean, and they set up a roaring chase scene in a brewery.

 The Sand Pebbles (now playing) is an extraordinary adventure thriller, filled with drama, suspense, action and romance. —Continued on Next Page—

THE SAND PEBBLES: Steve McQueen stars in the adventure film about an American gunboat patrolling the Yangtze River during the Chinese civil war, now at the Princeton Playhouse.

News Of The Theatres

mance. Conflict exists not only on a political scale, but also on a personal level. Filmed in Taiwan, the color photography is superb.

It is 1926 and an explosive time in China as warlords battle for supremacy and patriots of many nations cruise the Yangtze to protect their merchants and missionaries. Machinist mate Steve McQueen is assigned to the American gunboat, "San Pablo." A loner, he is resented by his fellow "Sand Pebbles" the crew's name for themselves especially when he tries to run the engine room in the fleet's manner. The rest of the ship is run by coolie labor and the other American sailors like it that way, figuring their job is to fight if needed.

Not only does the film cover a period of history rarely treated on the screen, it depicts the Nationalists, who were led by Chiang Kai-Shek, as brutal and bloodthirsty as the Bolsheviks and the numerous warlords, all with their separate armies.

There are two love affairs: a romance between McQueen and Candice Bergen, cast as a young American teacher, and between his buddy, Richard Attenborough, and Marjyat Anderson, the hostess of an Oriental opium palace.

McQueen is excellent as the volatile sailor-engineer who refuses to conform. His role is bolstered by all around him. The action-packed climax puts an appropriate cap on a film loaded with dramatic excitement. The movie is directed by Robert Wise, from a Robert Anderson script based on Richard McKenna's novel of the same title.

her mother and before that by her grandmother, but the young people didn't sing it any more...

Mrs. Commins found many of her songs in England where an officer of the Oxford University Press opened doors for her to examine British Broad-casting Company manuscripts. Naturally, music of acquired translation as well as words. Ancient modes, strange modes had to be set into a fixed western scale. The 23 intervals of the Indian scale, for example, had to be "well-tempered" for western instruments.

"I would play the line of a song and listen to its quality, its character and the words. I chose western keys: E, flat, or B, or whatever — to suit the register. Some eastern voices are very high, you know. And then I would try to keep the flow of the line in the setting I made for the left hand."

A lullaby is often a deliberate repetition so that the baby will be lulled to sleep, but Mrs. Commins brought a little life "into the repetition by doing something a bit different with the left hand each time."

As Mrs. Commins turns the pages of the book, thinking ahead to her new voyage and looking back affectionately to the work she has already done, she speaks repeatedly of the people who helped her, and indeed her list of acknowledgments has a great many verses.

Of all the people who help her, the one she remembers most, perhaps, is the scholar who gave her all the help.

IT'S NEW To Us

A SWEET FAREWELL.
To Christmas Shopping.
The candy box of the year is unquestionably Lindt's $20 box, wrapped in green-gold brocade and tied with a dark green ribbon of real velvet. Four and one-half pounds of candy and Louise Maas measures the box as 15 inches wide and 21 inches long, which is just a bout $1 per linear inch, if you want to add it up that way. The Nassau Delicatessen, which has it, too, doesn't even bother meeting.

For people who are stingy, Lindt puts the same chocolate collection in an identical, but smaller box.

Another giant is Miss Maas' big glass jar that holds four and one-half pounds of hard Italian candies. Great to take for a hostess.

The Italians are always favorites at the Met Shop and this year, you'll find Per-gina's chocolates with whole or chopped hazel nuts, in delectable array.

We like the box they've used at the Savari candy factory for "Resource." The box is a big one — 10 by 21 inches — and its cover is an old print in sepia, of something that might be a fete champetre — we couldn't find an identifying note. Very nice.

Bulk chocolates at Louise Maas are $2 and 2.40 a pound, and there are diversifications like black walnut divinity, a black chocolate apricot coconut, chocolate-covered orange peel, chocolate covered ginger, coconut dainties, with the white cream oozing out of the black, and butter crunch, and coconut.

The domestic chocolate
brand here is old Dominion and one of their seasonal delights is a $2.50-pound box of miniatures, and some wonderful cashew butter crunch in finely more intoxicating than alcohol.

Rosemarie's Christmas gift is a two and one-half pound box of hard candy at $2.50.
The box has been thoughtfully divided into nine segments, each with its own candy vari-

A Children's Christmas Party . . . ?

Between Christmas and New Year's, you can pick up that post-Christmas, post-Santa Claus let-down with a party for the youngest in your family. Most of the menu will probably be dessert, and here are a few things you might like to try.

Gingerbread. Houses in gingerbread are at Gourmet,
The Nassau Delicatessen, Lahiere's Patisserie and Vi-laine Market in Lawrenceville. Houses are standard size, but gingerbread men who live in them come in different sizes, even as you and I.

Christmas cake: Renwick's pastry department makes a great big Christmas cake with gingerbread man on top — probably gobbling it up before you have a chance at a sibble. $5, with a smaller $3.50 size. Order two days ahead of your party.

Snowballs. Vanilla and coconut Costa's ice-cream snowballs are happy little Christmas desserts from Vietri's, bright with their holy top and the small candle to light in each one. Four for 60c. 10c. for 70c. Christmas icecream with a tree in the middle).

More Christmas ice-cream. In Davidson's new freezer, there are ice-cream snowballs, six green trees, six Santas, all frozen and ready to be eaten. Chocolate-frosted cream-puffs, are minute in size, and 12 to a box.

More Christmas cakes: Village Bakery in Lawrenceville decorates cup-cakes as well as big cakes, with Christmas designs. Danish pastry is tree-shaped, with colored sugar ornaments.

Cherry tarts. Kirchen Torteiten from Germany are sweet little Christmas dessert tarts at the Nassau Delicatessen.

Party favors. Louise Maas' candy shop has novelties from 15c. Santas with lollipops, foil-wrapped toys —

ty in a kind of segregated housing.

This shop always specializes in candy novelties, as you know. Can you walk in the door without buying the one-pound ball of solid Hershey chocolate for $2? We don't think so.

Ring for me. Holland sends fine two-inch Delft plates;
chocolate discs wrapped in silful blue reproductions of the old Delft. England sends its most famous candy-maker, Cadbury, with a box of chocolate roses at $2.25.

A five-inch gold lace ball, melodiously trilled with holly and ribbon, has been filled with hard candy. "You give the bell with me," says the gift card from someone we know who bought the bell as a present.

Candy canes at Louise Maas wear a sophisticated print instead of the usual wide red bands. And while we're in the peppermint department, here are two-inch snowmen, red trees, wreaths and bells, all bright with Christmas for your holiday silver candy dish.

Just Pour Mine Into A Toll Glass

Gift decanters and bottles and their contents tend to be the same in liquor stores all around the town, but none have their party and gift specialties, and these we pass on to you.

Wine Selection: At The Cellar, Paul Mason's "Connoisseur Selection" is boxed, with instructions on how to serve, and how to use. Use? Just drink it up! You get Chablis, Burgundy, Emerald Dry Riesling, Rhine Castle, Ruben and a Vin Rose for $5.97. The bottles are 1.10.

Whole Pear Brand: At Wine and Game, they have Williams Pear Brandy with a WIGGLE PEAR right there in the bottle. Wine and Game's comment: "It will take your head off."

Bourbon, on a cradle: At Vandy, they baby that fat gallon of Grand Old Bourbon by laying it on a cradle. It's not a baby cradle; you understand. It's a cradle built to hold a gallon of bourbon, and what you do with it later is up to you. Buy another gallon of Grand Old. Cost: $35.87.

Briscake Bar: At Cousins, The Executive 707 is a briscake (most) filled with foil-wrapped meat, a small tray, a jigger, mixer and opener. At the moment, Cousins suggests Sea, Drama, Seven Crown, J and B and Boreforer gun, to fill out the 707.

Wine prices: At Nassau Liquor, There's a $2 recipe book of favorite wine concoctions from California wine growers.

Rum Cakes: At Louise Maas, the babies are in rum, and 1967 looks like a vintage year for these little sweets.

Whiskey Fruitcake: At Davidson's, (and Maas, too), they sleep the fruit-cake in Irish whiskey.

Fatimid Drosche remembers Viedt's again this year with chocolate apples and a chocolate monogrammed monster, snake and tiger. $5 each!

On the novelty table are Viedt's barley sugar animals or lollypops, and marzipan and real "Deft" "wooden" shoes filled with foil-wrapped chocolates.

For munching: Viedt's likes those red or white bells at $1.35 a pound, peppermint in flavor with a clear ring.

Over at the Nassau Del, they offer you Lindt's Zurich "Taster," with nice color photographs of Zurich on the cover, and a pound and a half of wrapped chocolates inside.

Pascall's chocolate candies come in lemon sour, fruit bonbons, black currants and eclairs! Marzipan, always a Del's specialty, is in potatoes and strawberries and piglets. And also in platin, wrapped quarters about two inches each way.

CANDY NUTS.

Nibble a Little. If you're not a candy bug even at Christmas, don't despair. Santa won't forget. He may stop at the Del for some of that refrigerated Romanoff or Iranian beluga fresh caviar and if he does, he's SOME Santa. Could we have his name, please?

The Del also suggests the two-pound, 12-ounce crock of S.S. Pierce sharp cheddar or, in bulk, the Del's own cheddar spread in port with pistachios at $1.50 a pound.

Gift packages from the Del might be built around a useful wooden cheese tray, or they might be packed into the 18-inch strawed tray. We liked the Del's idea of natural honey jars into a box with two bee-shaped ceramic honey pots.

Gourmet — which also has fresh caviar — likes to pack a complete meal of hors d'oeuvre, including cheeses and cocktail crackers and nibblers of one kind or another.

By the way, The Gourmet serves after dinner coffee with Danish Marzipan "fingers" — like three-inch leaves of bread.

Delicious, and quite different.

... And Crumpets. When guests drop in some frosty holiday afternoon, serve them with the fire with Food Mart's Scottish oatcakes, Dundee shortbread or Irish cottage Knockbrod. Or Irish collage cookies from the decorative tin box at the Del.

Food Mart also likes to take a big slice from Mrs. Dornia's homemade bread in honey, butter, whole wheat, dark rye or raisin.

Davidson's loves guests to join in a cheese fondue party with fondue made from a convenient mix.

Traditional Christmas fruitcakes abound everywhere, of course. Labiere's Patisserie makes its own individual ones in bite-size, the "bite" being about the size of the walnut half on top. These are 26c each.

Individual fruitcakes at Tuorne's come from Slaver, packed ten to a box in a long box like something from a florist's.

Aside from the standards, the Del has a New Year's cake from Greece called the Vasilopika, at $3.85, and the traditional Baumkuchen (tree cake) from Germany.

Claxton's old-fashioned fruit cakes are the pride of the Food Mart, and for women who will still have time to make their own, this market has whole citrons. Viedt's fruitcake comes from Fanny Farmer.

Incidentally, you'll find in several shops — Maas, Viedt, and the Del — a collection of pecan halves arranged in interesting fan-style around collection of glazed fruits. It's pleasant to look at and a refreshing holiday decoration.

And you'll find Poppycock everywhere you turn: Viedt's, the Del and Maas. Sometimes

TEENS INVITED

To Youth Center. A formal open house will be held at the Princeton Youth Center, 102
Witherspoon Street, from 10 to 5 and 7-30 to 11:30 on Saturday, December 23. About 175 persons, mostly young people, attended the informal preview
last Sunday.

Membership cards are being issued to teens who either live in Princeton or who attend Princeton schools. The cards cost $3.50 and are valid until September 1968. The Youth Center will also admit guests at 50¢ each if accompanied by a member.

The Youth Center now has a furnished lounge, ping pong and pool tables and a juke box have been installed. The kitchen equipment that arrived last week has not been set up, but food vending machines are available.

GIFT SUGGESTION MADE

By Recreation Group. The Princeton Recreation Department has a Christmas gift idea for Borough and Township residents: a 1964 pool permit for the Community Park Pool.
The Department is currently selling gift certificates, exchangeable for pool permits after March 15, at the regular rates.

Individuals must pay $15 for a single pool permit. Substantial savings, however, can be made by purchasing a husband and wife permit, selling at $25,
or a family resident permit,
selling at $40.

To purchase one of these gift certificates stop by the Princeton Recreation Department in its offices on the second floor of Township Hall or visit savings, however, can be made by purchasing a husband

and wife permit, selling at $25,
or a family resident permit,

BUSINESS In Princeton

FOR SHOPPING
New Center in West Windsor.
A restaurant and about 16 elite specialty shops will be the tenants of a new shopping center to be built this spring in Princeton Junction on land formerly occupied by The Building Center, a lumber yard.

Samuel Pillsbury, owner of the Building Center and its two and one-half acres, has sold the land to The Princeton Company, 12 Nassau, at an undisclosed price.

SHOP HERE: An elite little shopping center will be built next spring in Princeton Junction on land formerly occupied by The Building Center. The road leading to the New York bound side of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is off at the right. The Princeton-Hightstown Road is at the bottom. All these buildings are presently standing on the site.

Actually, the new shopping center doesn't have to be built so much as remedied. All the buildings now standing on the site will be used, and Henderon Talbot, of The Princeton Company, says that the old sheds formerly used to store lumber are splendidly strong and well built because of the weights they had to sustain.

These outbuildings and the main lumber yard office building will be redone in an intimate colonial style, with appropriate landscaping.

So far, Mr. Talbot has not chosen a name for the center, but he does have clear ideas about quality tenants. He will have a restaurant in the main office building on the Princeton-Hightstown Road. In the other buildings there will be a yarn and wool shop, perhaps, or an exclusive sweater shop.

On the second floor of at least one of the buildings there will be office space or possibly something like a hairdressing salon, Mr. Talbot said.

West Windsor municipal officials have been receptive to the idea of the center. Mr. Talbot has turned over the operation end of things to Mackenzie Realty, Inc. of Princeton Junction. He hopes the center will be ready for customers in May.

BANK ANNOUNCES CHANGE
In Interest Calculation.
Regular savings accounts at First National Bank will be computed from the day of deposit, starting January 2, 1968, according to an announcement by Ralph Mather, president.

The new method of interest calculation, made possible by advanced electronic accounting procedures, will benefit savers who make regular deposits in their accounts.

First National will be celebrating its 75th anniversary in 1968. The bank pays four per cent annual interest, the highest rate permissible for commercial banks on regular savings. The rate is payable quarterly.

First National maintains offices at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, with full-service drive-in branches at East Nassau Street and at Washington Road, Princeton Junction.

FOUR PROMOTED
By PB & T. C. Barnwell Trust has been named senior vice president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company banking division, and secretary of the corporation. He succeeds Harold E. Zarker, who retired on November 1.

Other promotions announced by William R. Corby, president, include the advancement of Edwin F. Lowe, Hopewell office manager, from assistant treasurer to assistant vice president.

Clifford A. Robbins, assistant manager of the Hopewell branch, was elevated to assistant treasurer. John W. Byrne was named manager of personal credit in the banking division. The promotions are effective January 1.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By the Princeton Courier, an official Princeton newspaper distributed as well.

Question Of The Week

Question: Who is your choice for 1967's Man of the Year?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Stanley Taylor, Princeton Junction, clergyman: Arthur Goldberg, because we have been very deeply involved in the United Nations and Goldberg has been our ambassador there. I think he has conducted himself in a manner that has brought a great deal of credit to the country. I think he deserves recognition.

Mrs. J. D. Japp, Kingston Terrace Apartments, assistant to the vice president, Lord & Taylor: Mr. Drapoun, the mayor of Montreal, for his conception of and bringing Expo 67 to Montreal.

William Kibler, mid career student at Woodrow Wilson School, Magic Apartments: Moshe Dayan, for the way he handled himself and Israel in the war with the Arabs. If Israel had won the war, it would have been placed in a very difficult and awkward diplomatic situation.

Robert White, 37 Hemlock Circle, graduate student, architecture: Christian Barnard, the South African heart surgeon — just for the impact on what heart transplants could do for man.

Carol Douglas, 48 Cleveland Lane, student, Stuart County Day: Ralph Nader, the man who graduated from Princeton who is working on air pollution, most parking and drugs. I think it is really great because these are situations we are faced with and nobody is doing anything about it. We are always worrying about problems outside the country. These are internal problems. There has to be someone to get these things off the ground. I think it takes a lot of courage what Nader is doing.

Dele Dent, Hopewell, student, Interlochen Arts Academy, Michigan: Marlon Brando. I like his style, the way he is totally independent of society. I like the way he throws himself into his parts. I think he is a great actor.

Toey Nini, 70 Riverside Drive, owner of Nini Chrysler Plymouth: Robert McNamara. He's been a great public servant. You've got to give him credit for what he's done — considering the overall picture what he gave up to take the job, the difficult problems he has had to face, what he has accomplished, the long years he has served. I think he's done a commendable job.

Miss Dolores Hill, Hights town, registered nurse: The three astronauts who were killed — Grisson, Chaffee and White. They furthered the whole space program by what they had done before they died. They would have done even more had they lived. They knew the dangers involved. I think they were very brave men.

Claude Schwab, Princeton Seminary, graduate student, theology: Dr. Dent, not because he did something great. I don't agree with him but he's not a great guy. He really had in this year one of the most important roles in the world.

Mrs. John Rhoaders, Hun Road, housewife. I think May or Lindsay of New York. He's done a good job really. He has convictions, I feel he can take criticism. I think he's been great for the people of New York. In other words, he's doing his job well.

Philip M. Roberts, Kingston Terrace, business executive: I think Man of the Year for the adversity he's had to put up with is Harold Wilson. He's taken an extremely difficult step — the devaluation of the English pound — at a time when Britain needs courage of just that sort, which, I think, typifies the whole spirit of the British people.

Sanford Solars, Levitown, Pa., account executive for Princeton advertising agency: Moshe Dayan. I think he probably destroyed more Russian military equipment in six days than our armies have been able to do in Vietnam in six years.

M. H. Abraham, student at the Graduate College: Dele Dent. I think he is a courageous man. I wish we had a few more people like him who can act independently of the politics of the other group. It seems to me that modern politics is like lobbying in business. I can't see any other politician since De Gaulle who can act independently of modern politics.

PEOPLE In The News

KAUFFMAN GIVEN PEN
By Pres. J. Edgar Hoover, John W. Kauffman, administrator of Princeton Hospital, has been given one of the pens used by President Johnson in signing the $200 million Partnership in Health bill. Mr. Kauffman was invited to attend the nationally televised ceremony as chairman of the American Hospital Association's Council on Government Relations.

The health aid bill provides funds for state public health services, for comprehensive health planning and for research into new methods of organizing health services. It also allows a $20 million annual expenditure on a rat control program.

Mr. Kauffman's souvenir is a blue and silver ceremonial pen, several of which are used in signing major legislation, with President Johnson's signature and seal of office stamped on the barrel.

Albert Ziegler, 32 Nassau Place, Princeton Junction, assistant general solicitor of the Western Electric Company, has attended a day long briefing in New York on the role of the United States in the United Nations. The briefing was conducted by senior officials of the U.S. Mission to the U.N. and included discussions of issues currently being considered by the 22nd General Assembly. Participants also attended a session of the Security Council.

Army Pvt Dennis G. Dugger, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dugger Sr., State Road, has completed an eight-week field artillery basic course at Fort Sill, Okla. Pvt. Dugger was trained in the operation and maintenance of the 160mm and the 155mm howitzers.

Jeffery P. Billie, a sophomore at Norwich University, has been promoted to the rank of cadet corporal in the University's Corps of Cadets. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Billie, 26 West Long Drive, Lawrenceville.

ARTIST WINS BOND: Helen Rayer, a young artist who is a student at Princeton High School, won second prize in the Broad Street National Bank's "Desks-A-Christmas Card" contest. Helen, who lives at 6 Galesk Drive, receives her prize, a United States Savings Bond, from Raymond L. Sleen, president of the Trenton bank.

Robert L. Davidson, 45 Palmyra Avenue, senior editor of "Chemical Engineering," has edited the first comprehensive handbook to cover every major aspect of modern petroleum refining. "Petroleum Processing Handbook" is designed to provide the information most often needed for the design, operation and understanding of a petroleum refinery.

Two Princeton area residents, students at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., have been awarded varsity football letters. They are Peter F. Kirkpatrick, Cherry Valley Road, and John G. Sirasano, 2868 Main Street, Lawrenceville.

Reserve Colonel Hayden Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mason, 291 Jefferson Road, has completed an Army Command General Staff extension course while serving as the training officer with the Army's reserve control group in St. Louis. Col. Mason, who received a B.A. from Harvard College in 1940 and his M.A. from Harvard University in 1941, is employed by the National Fire Protection Association, Boston, Mass., as a librarian. The course prepares officers for duty as commanders and general staff officers in divisions, or logistical commands.

Airman First Class Peter D. Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Briggs, 7 Greenview Avenue, has been assigned to the newly activated 21st Helicopter Squadron at Shaw AFB, S.C. A navigation systems repairman with the squadron, Airman Briggs will maintain the unit's CH-3C "Jolly Green Giant" helicopters. He is a graduate of Princeton High School.

Fred W. Jackson, 18 Eagle Lane Avenue, Pennington, who retired this year as director, Division of Information, New Jersey Department of Agriculture, after 36 years of service, was honored last week with a testimonial dinner attended by more than 300 friends and associates.

Among those attending was former Governor Robert B. Meyner who spoke on Mr. Jackson's service to the state. Governor Richard J. Hughes was also present.

gram, according to its director, Mrs. Geoffrey Sage. In 1965 she organized the entertainment for the RCY World Red Cross Day celebration, a year later she was in charge of publicity, and this year was named chairman. For two years she has organized the Stuart Singers for the Walston Army Hospital at Fort Dix, where she has also served as a volunteer.

During this same period Terry was chairman of the RCY group for the Red Cross teacher sponsor worship, and organized the Yugoslav Friendship Boxes program. In addition to her Red Cross activities, she is a member of the 1967 Christmas Committee for the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. In October 1966 she received the Kiwanis Club's award for Youth of the Month.

DIVIDEND INCREASED

Princeton Bank & Trust Company of Princeton declared a quarterly dividend of 58¢ per share payable on February 1. The bank of Princeton declared a quarterly dividend of 58¢ per share payable on December 29 has been declared by the board of directors of the Princeton Bank & Trust Company. This is an increase of five cents.

At a past meeting the Board voted a year end extra dividend of 4¢ per share, making the total dividend for the year 52¢, as compared with 42¢ in 1965 and 43¢ in 1964. The board anticipates that the policy of the issuing a year end extra dividend will be continued.

WHAT GOES ON HERE?
Tiger Skaters Win Big
Some night that Princeton basketball team was in the national spotlight through its inclusion of the North Carolina campus, the Tigers hockey team stole the headlines in Boston, where basketball takes a distant second place to action on ice.

Regarded for years in Bean town circles as a poor southern cousin who rarely made trouble for anybody, particularly a Boston team skating in its own backyard, Princeton came up with back-to-back victories over Northwestern and Boston College to win ECAC Holiday Tournament

The convincing 7-4 triumph over the Eagles was the first by an Orange and Black sextet since 1954.

The four-day session in Massachusetts began with a solid performance as a goal which had to come from behind to defeat the Tigers, 2-1, was scored late in the ECAC tournament, the second round of the season was re-arranged over Northeastern, a 5-4 verdict in overtime.

That figured, to some extent, because Coach Bill Quackenbush's charges had hunkered in Baker Rink a week earlier, 4-0. The proceedings the next night, Saturday, were wholly unpropitious to form, however, B.C. ranking as one of the top four or five sextets in the east.

Scoring Punch Decides
Playing without two of its top four defensesmen, Princeton needed a twilight offense to win. A goal by Harvard, senior Ben Kanninen broke his leg when he collided with the boards and is out for the season. Junior Bill Ramsay, the pick of the rear guard, aggravated a hamstring in the game with the Crimson and missed both tournament games.

Two clusters of three goals in rapid fire order provided the Princeton triumph. Down by 3-1 midway through the second round, the Tigers went ahead when Jerry Kearney, first-line forward scored at 9:33, followed by Peter Stuckey at 12:24 and sophomore Steve Gill at 14:53.

The Eagles tied it at 4-4, the deadlock lasting until there were less than seven minutes left in the third period. At 12:36, Kearney scored again, Jon Taylor and Captain John Ruithe adding momentum goals in the next two minutes.

The Friday contest against Northeastern came the Tigers' way at 1:40 of the overtime session when senior Terry Peckman scored his second goal of the game. Boston College won its way to the finals by defeating Dartmouth, 4-1, in the consolation game. Northeastern trimmed the Crimson, 3-2.

Against Harvard, Jon Taylor's first period goal on an assist from Ruithe gave Princeton a lead that lasted until close to the half-way mark in the second session. Then four quick Crimson scores turned the tide the last coming while the home team was a man short.

Goals by Kearney and Peterman in the third period helped the Orange and Black make a good contest of it. Harvard coach Conney Wetland crediting them with giving the best performance by a Princeton sextet at Cambridge in a decade. The game was the Ivy League opener for both teams. Princeton will be idle until a post New Year's journey that will send it against St. Lawrence and Clarkson in upper New York State and then to Chestnut Hill, Mass. for a rematch with B.C. The Tigers will not play in Baker Rink again until they face Dartmouth on January 26.

ANDOVER KEEPS TITLE

In Lawrenceville Tournament, Ohio sided triumphs in its first two games and a come from behind victory in the championship round gave Andover back to back titles in the Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament last week. Coach Ted Harrison's Massachusetts sextet defended its crown successfully, winning in Baker Rink for the third time since 1960.

A 1-0 conquest of Lawrenceville Friday morning was followed by a 7-1 decision over St. Marks in the semi-final round that night. In the Piel Memorial Trophy game Saturday afternoon, however, seeded Nichols School of Buffalo very nearly achieved its second upset of the 20th annual tournament. Andover was forced to erase deficits of 2-0 and 3-1 before winning, 4-3.

Nichols, a day school whose pupils all come from the Buffalo area, had ousted second-

Only One Tiger AR-15

Bruce Wayne, a senior who was a key member of Princeton's defensive backfield, is the only Princeton player named to the official All-Ivy football team selected by the eight colleges. A fin tacker, he was also a stand-out for the Tigers on punt returns.

Champion Yale led in the selections with seven, while Harvard, which tied with Princeton for fourth place, had eight. Dartmouth, runner-up to the Elms, had four on the two-pleasure team, while third place Cornell and seventh place Brown both had more than Princeton with two apiece. Penn and Columbia were not presented.

There was far more disagreement among the coaches as to who should be named than usual. Of 24 players chosen — 11 on back platoon, plus a punting and place-kicking specialist, one Don Chiofalo, Harvard linebacker, was a unanimous pick.

seeded Ridley College of Canada, 3-2, in Friday's semi-finals. Earlier that day, it had defeated Taft, 3-1.

As early as the four-minute mark of the first period in the title game, Nichols enjoyed a 2-0 lead. Andover narrowed the gap shortly thereafter, but Nichols beat goalie Peter Samson again before the period ended to take a 3-1 lead into the dressing room.

Playing defensive hockey proved costly to the Buffalo sextet. Andover dominating the action in the second period and drawing even at 3-3. At 9:16 of the final period, Andover's Dave Cavanaugh clinched an attack of the Nichols cage by hanging in a loose puck to provide the margin of victory.

Other tournament scores: St. Mark's 3, So. Kent 2; Ridley 3, Taber 0; Ridley 4, St. Mark's 2; Taft 4, Lawrenceville 3; South Kent 5, Taber 4.

Hugh Samson of Princeton, a member of the Andover team, and John Griggs, the Taft captain, were named to the second all tournament team. Griggs is a former resident and PDS alum.

Where traffic's heavy but rolling, and trucks are throwing their weight around, it's not the ideal place for small cars to make time. But the SAAB 900 is no ordinary small car. It is out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around the others do. It pulls you around corners, curves, and other drivers' mistakes (Most ordinary small cars don't give, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features.) As an optional extra, our new V-6 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

that even the Trenton reserves that Price inserted in the fourth quarter appeared to have the better of it against the Little Tigers.

After watching PHS in its first three outings, a fair question would be: How far can PHS go on hustle alone?

WRESTLERS LOSE, 38-10
 Suburban Tourney Wednesday. In its opening home meet of the season held Wednesday afternoon at the PHS gym, the Princeton High School wrestling team lost a 38-10 decision to a strong North Hunterdon squad.

All 10 PHS points came off pins by Hank Wilkinson in the 115-lb. division and Sam Procazzini in the 130-lb. class. Wilkinson, a junior, is undefeated—a sizeable achievement since both his victories are over Hunterdon opponents. Hunterdon being the leading practitioner of the sport in Central Jersey.

PHS coach Tom Murray was forced to tangle with North Hunterdon minus four of his valiantly performing, who were

TOO BAD THIS DIDN'T HAPPEN MORE OFTEN: Billy Brooks drives in all alone for a layup after stealing the ball in the fourth period against Trenton High School. Taking advantage of the "Welcome to the Tigers' Den" sign on the wall, the visiting Tornadoes made themselves at home and poured in 116 points—a school record. NO RESERVE FOR PHS

Frazer Cathedral Friday. There are a lot of ways you can look at it, if your basketball team has just been overwhelmed, 116 to 70.

Following Trenton High School's record-breaking total of 116 points for its third straight—and easiest—victory, PHS coach Larry Ivan was at times philosophical, "I don't make a season," he mused. "Trenton is the third-ranked team in the state; practical, I wish Trenton had stayed in that press longer; that's where our guys really gain experience," and rationalizing, "It doesn't make any difference whether you get beat by 50 points or by five points."

"The score doesn't bother me," said Ivan, "as long as we hustled. We didn't hustle in the first half, but we didn't quit in the second half."

Trenton is a good team. There's no question about it. When our boys see T-R-E-N-T-O-N written on a jersey, they get paralyzed over it. We've got to break that."

For the Little Tigers (1-2), it will be out of the frying pan into the fire. Friday they play Cathedral here starting at 8 p.m. The Gaels (2-0) are ranked eighth in the state, according to Ivan and his band (behind Trenton) in the Delaware Valley area. PHS was scheduled to meet 14th ranked Plainfield this Wednesday.

"These three games (Trenton, Plainfield and Cathedral) will mature this team," commented Ivan. "There's nothing like some good tough ball games to make the boys realize how much they've got to go yet."

Tournament Wednesday. The Annual Suburban Tournament among PHS, Notre Dame, Ewing and Hopewell Valley Central High School (Penn.) will start on Wednesday. The tourney will be held at the Notre Dame High School gym. The Little Tigers will oppose Notre Dame in the second game on Wednesday, the probable starting time 8:30. In the first game, Ewing will meet Pennington at 7. The winners will play each other two days later on Friday in the second game. The two losers will tangle in the opening game at 7.

The visiting Tornadoes—the game had originally been scheduled for Trenton, but was moved to Princeton, following disturbances among high school students in Trenton on Wednesday—were able to club the home team into submission because of superb shooting and ability to beat the Little Tigers at their own game.

Trenton shot 25 of 47 in the first half. In the first and third quarters the Tornadoes sank 55 percent of their shots. PHS, which for the most part, had to shoot from outside, was less effective, connecting on just 13 of 38 in the decisive first half.

"You Call That Defense?" But what hurt most of all was Trenton beating PHS down under the basket, it was Trenton that was playing standard defense. Not Princeton. At one point in the third period, Ivan moaned, "When a man can dribble right up to the foul line, you call that defense?"

PHS followers had two occasions to cheer. The first came near the end of the opening eight minutes of play when successive baskets narrowed Trenton's lead to 21-13 and it looked as if PHS might have something going. This coach Fred Price called a time out to talk things over. Whatever he said, it was the right thing, for from that point on, there was a steady pull-away for his team.

The second game when Trenton reached 100 and the scoreboard showed 60 points for Trenton and 57 for PHS.

Of Princeton's 36 points in the first half, John Madden, offensive captain, had 15. He finished with 22. Bob Price, Little Tigers. Ron McKewen had 14 and Billy Brooks, 11. Jeff Haring, 10. Charlie Madden scored nine each.

Trenton was paced by Sandy Smith, 28 points, and Karl Westcott, the Tornadoes' big man who pulled down 14 rebounds and contributed 21 points. Willy Flowers, who drew praise from Ivan for his ball handling—"He's the one that makes them go"—had 16. The final 114 topped by six the previous record of 108 set in 1950 by Trenton's undefeated state championship team. Edison was the victim of that mark.

Ivan is clearly building with an eye to the future. His team is dominated by underclassmen. John Madden, Brooks and Haring—three of his best—will all return next year.

But so is Ewing (3-0) which manhandled PHS in its opening game, dominated by underclassmen. And it was disturbing to note
